Project 1: Deoxynivalenol (DON) Analysis in Wheat

1. What are the major goals and objectives of the research project?

The goal of this project is to provide information to the wheat breeders, durum breeders, plant pathologists, commodity groups, and other researchers working on developing Fusarium resistant cultivars and developing fungicide protocols, with DON analysis results that are timely and affordable.

2. What was accomplished under these goals or objectives? (For each major goal/objective, address these three items below.)

a) What were the major activities?

Approximately 4,465 samples (exclusive of checks and standard curve samples) were analyzed for DON during the reporting period. 10 researchers from four US states (ND, SD, NE, MT) submitted the samples and the majority of them were from breeding programs. Some the samples were from pathologists and other researchers developing fungicide protocols.

b) What were the significant results?

Results for DON content of samples sent by cooperators were obtained and provided to the cooperators. The results were obtained for about 4,465 samples. Statistical information is listed on the DON QC addendum page.

c) List key outcomes or other achievements.

The major outcome of this project for FY21 was that we were able to effectively analyze all of the samples sent by the 10 cooperators by the end of the FY21 funding term. Results were submitted to and accepted by all cooperators involved in USWBSI research.

3. What opportunities for training and professional development has the project provided?

One undergraduate assisted in the laboratory with the testing. The undergraduate student has learned basic laboratory skills and laboratory quality control.

4. How have the results been disseminated to communities of interest?

The data are provided directly to the researchers. Information on DON in wheat has been disseminated to the growers, breeders, and other scientists by written publications, conferences, and webinars.

Publications, Conference Papers, and Presentations

Please include a listing of all your publications/presentations about your FHB work that were a result of funding from your FY21 grant award. Only citations for publications published (submitted or accepted) or presentations presented during the award period should be included.
